SEVEN CITIES BY-THE-SEA OFFER RARE SCENES OF BEAUTY TO VISITORS

Smooth Highway Beckons Motorists Along 'Riviera'—
Distance From New Orleans Soon to Be Cut—
Waveland First Point of Interest.

This sketch of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, from Bay-Waveland to Ocean Springs, by Fred Cumbs, press feature writer, appeared in the N. O. Times-Picayune of Sunday's date, May 19, and is not only of local interest but will be read with more than ordinary pleasure by readers away.

The story, by the author with the instinct of a poet, follows:
Lying serene and beautiful along the island-protected Mississippi sound, Mississippi's "Seven Cities by the Sea" possess an atmosphere of calm and restfulness.

Studding the shore along the 40-mile sea wall and highway like varicolored gems set in the rim of a bright crown, the cities present an ever-changing panorama as one drives along the curving vista.

With the green-blue waters stretching away to far horizons on one side and the flower-bordered homes, hotels and parks set back amid shadowy beauty on the other, a feeling of peaceful resignation to the charming scenes descends upon the motorist.

The highway is smooth and invitingly open and there is no evidence of "speed traps" and strict regulation. Yet high speed is so distinctly out of harmony with the surroundings that one involuntarily slows down.

Much To See

Then, too, there is so much to see that one feels inclined to stop at short intervals to drink in the changing beauty. Here an intriguing avenue opens up toward the left and one wonders to what fascinating spot it may lead. Or a tiny sail outlined far out across the water attracts attention.

Called the "Riviera of America," the Mississippi Gulf Coast area from the beginning of the sea wall and highway at Lakeshore to Biloxi and Ocean Springs is the week-end resort for thousands of New Orleansians as well as other thousands of the interior of Mississippi and Alabama.

Many others also visit it from Chicago and scores of other Northern and Mid-West cities during the summer and winter. Many residents of New Orleans and cities in the North have their own homes along the delightful stretch of land where a large part of the summer and winter is spent each year.

Many Inducements

While the sheer beauty of the Gulf Coast area, enriched by beautiful gardening, resulting in a profusion of blossoming flowers of almost every imaginable hue, is its chief asset, the factors of historic interest, mild temperatures the year round, the facilities for enjoying outdoor life on land and water and similar inducements add greatly to the enjoyment of a visit there.

The Gulf coast, or at least the beginning of the western end of the sea wall and highway, is less than 80 miles distant from Canal and Royal streets by the present circuitous route by way of Slidell, Pearl River and Tigerville.

The drive will be reduced to approximately 60 miles when the short cut highway directly from the eastern end of the Rigolets bridge to Pearl River is completed within the next few months. Work of surfacing this highway already has been started.

Waveland First Point

Beginning at Waveland, the first point to be reached at present by highway, the motorist proceeds along an almost unbroken avenue of changing beauty for more than 40 miles to Ocean Springs. The paved highway continues on to Pascagoula and Mobile over an inland route.

From Waveland the drive is along the sea wall at a somewhat low elevation with beautiful homes rising on high ground to the left. The attractive buildings of a college for boys are seen through the trees as one enters Bay St. Louis.

Even the business area through which the motorist drives at Bay St. Louis appears always to be in holiday spirit.

Turning to the right across the nearly two-mile-long highway bridge over the Bay of St. Louis the highway curves around toward the waterfront again with fascinating views of the water through tall pines.

Drive of Beauty

Then begins the unbroken drive of beauty which continues until Ocean Springs has been passed. Passing through West Pass Christian, Pass Christian and East Pass Christian, perhaps the most magnificent and varied flora to be seen in this section of the country is visible to the motorist.

In addition to the hundreds of homes, literally banked with blooms

MURPHREE FORCES TO RALLY THIS WEEK AT STATEWIDE MEETING

At Jackson On Thursday
Night of This Week—
Pointdexter Park at Capital City

A state-wide rally of the forces of Lieutenant-Governor Murphree, candidate for governor of Mississippi, will be held in Pointdexter Park at Jackson Thursday evening.

Acceptances have been received from 66 "Murphree county managers" who have notified campaign headquarters that they and county delegations will be in attendance at the season's first statewide political rally to be held in the state's capital city.

"Failing to secure the Jackson Boys' Band, a band from Kosciusko will furnish the music for the occasion," declared a headquarters announcement.

The program is to open at 6:30 o'clock when state, district and county candidates will be given an opportunity to make their announcements. The Murphree county managers will make their reports, starting at 7:30 o'clock, to be followed by the address of Lieut.-Governor Murphree.

In event of rain, according to the announcement, the rally will be shifted to the city auditorium.

of bright and somber hues, a drive into the town away from the waterfront will reveal even more intriguing types of gardening: The Middle-class Japanese Gardens at Pass Christian are said to be among the finest of the entire country. They recently were opened to the public.

The line of beautiful homes flanking the curving shoreline continues in Long Beach with the grounds of a girls' college providing an attractive central theme for the picture.

Gulfport, one of the cities of greatest commercial activity on the Gulf coast, retains the beauty and general attractiveness of the "Riviera." Many notable hotels, a large lumber commerce and other industries give it an air of alert activity, while the spirit of peaceful beauty of the coast is seen along the shaded residential thoroughfare.

Inland from Gulfport and the other Gulf coast cities are streams abundant with game fish of dozens of varieties and small game to test the marksmanship of hunters.

Also at Gulfport and the other cities along the coast are literally dozens of golf courses, tennis courts and interior swimming pools for cool weather or fresh water, if one does not care for the gulf waters.

Military School

At Mississippi City, just east of Gulfport, is a military school attended by boys from many parts of the country. Its attractive grounds enhance the beauty of the drive.

Large hotels dot the shoreline as one continues on along the generally shaded drive. Soon Beauvoir, the old home of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, looms at the left with the flag of the Lost Cause waving from the flagpole. A few of the aged veterans of the War Between the States make their homes there.

Biloxi, center of Gulf coast attractions for many who visit the coast, or "go across the lake," as such a visit is termed by many New Orleansians, was the first capital of the French settlement in the Lower Mississippi valley. A tablet on a stone across the Bay of Biloxi, just to the right of Back Bay bridge as one goes eastward, marks the spot where Iberia landed on April 8, 1499.

Rare is the hour of day during which one cannot see trim sail boats unfurling their cloth to the wind off the Biloxi coast. The drive past the government lighthouse and across the newer bridge leads to Ocean Springs. One of the beauty spots of this place is "Lovers' Lane," a continuation of Porter avenue, which turns left off the highway as one enters the town.

It is approximately 115 miles to Ocean Springs with something of interest every foot of the way after reaching the delightful shore drive. It can't be made in a hurry because there is so much to see.

HUGH WHITE SPEAKS

To Many Listeners at County
Courthouse in Bay St.
Louis Last Friday Night

Notwithstanding another dated public attraction in the city last Friday night, Hugh White, of Columbia, candidate for the governorship of Mississippi, addressed a large crowd that had gathered within the walls of the county courthouse to hear his campaign address.

Equipped with a loud speaker apparatus within the court auditorium and which extended down and out to courthouse square, many listeners assembled on the grounds, in the cool of the evening, to hear equally as well the address. Mr. White's sound truck accompanies him on all speaking tours.

"Other speakers in the interest of their respective candidacies had assembled and delivered short addresses, all well received."

Sheriff T. Ed. Kellar, custodian of the courthouse, and who had previously served as master of ceremonies at other similar occasions and political rallies over the county, had the honor and privilege of formally introducing the distinguished industrialist and successful business man.

Mr. Kellar's introduction was short and to the point. There was no need of a lengthy talk for Mr. White is well known and endeared to the hearts of every Mississippian who wishes for the State a strictly business-like administration.

Mr. Kellar becomingly took the liberty of revealing some of Mr. White's many benefactions and of outstanding contributions to certain institutions of the State.

Mr. White's platform is well known. He stressed the necessity of industrializing Mississippi and recalled to the mind of his listeners that within the past year or two he had been instrumental, with assistance of his town associates, of bringing to his home town of Columbia, two manufacturing industries that employed many laborers and paid weekly payrolls of no mean proportions.

He says Mississippi should proceed to go after industries. Already, he said, several had been established within the borders of the State, plants that had been located elsewhere but that found Mississippi far more advantageous in more ways than one.

He urged for a further development of Mississippi's own resources, particularly its agricultural possibilities. However, he said, this could be better accomplished with industries absorbing surplus labor and producing a medium for earning power.

Different phases of his already well-known platform were dwelt with illuminating emphasis and at the conclusion it was evident Mr. White had added many names to his already long list of friends and other supporters in this section.

A business set-up for the State is imperative and the man who goes into the governor's office, eschews politics and attends strictly to the business of administering to the best interest of the State and its people is the one who is going to give the most constructive and best service.

Senator Carl Marshall
To Speak for Bay St.
Rotary Club July 2

An event of interest to ladies and gentlemen is the forthcoming intercity meeting, joint installation of officers and "Ladies Night" of both Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis Rotary Clubs, to be given with a banquet at Bradley's on the evening of Tuesday, July 2, at 7:45 o'clock.

Senator Carl Marshall will speak for the local club, his subject, "Bay St. Louis," while another speaker will discourse on "Pass Christian" for the sister city club.

Committee in charge reports considerable progress in arrangement of detail and an unusual number of reservations are anticipated.

Mr. White's platform is well known. He stressed the necessity of industrializing Mississippi and recalled to the mind of his listeners that within the past year or two he had been instrumental, with assistance of his town associates, of bringing to his home town of Columbia, two manufacturing industries that employed many laborers and paid weekly payrolls of no mean proportions.

He says Mississippi should proceed to go after industries. Already, he said, several had been established within the borders of the State, plants that had been located elsewhere but that found Mississippi far more advantageous in more ways than one.

He urged for a further development of Mississippi's own resources, particularly its agricultural possibilities. However, he said, this could be better accomplished with industries absorbing surplus labor and producing a medium for earning power.

A business set-up for the State is imperative and the man who goes into the governor's office, eschews politics and attends strictly to the business of administering to the best interest of the State and its people is the one who is going to give the most constructive and best service.

Several hundred persons heard Hugh White, candidate for governor, make his record appeal to voters of Pearl River county, Wednesday night when he spoke at the high school athletic field. He came from Carson, where he addressed voters that afternoon. From there he went to Jackson county.

Mr. White appeared before the voters of that county early in May at the county seat, Poplarville, and plans to go there again before he closes his campaign.

B. Whitfield his chairman of the local White campaign committee, Talbert A. Daniels is secretary, with H. K. McKee, Paul V. Rowlands and G. E. Mullens members of the executive committee.

Prior to Mr. White's address a number of district and county office candidates made announcements in the interest of their campaigns.

Mr. McKee introduced Mr. White. In his appeal to the voters, Mr. White stressed his plans for balancing agriculture with industry and putting more people to work; $1 auto tags and TVA program.

TRAFFIC LAWS TO BE ENFORCED

Up To The Very Letter Is
Order of Mayor and City
Commissioners Bay St.
Louis

At a conference of the city council and chief of police it was ordered that the traffic rules and regulations be henceforth enforced to the fullest extent, beginning at once.

Cars running through the lane between cars packed on the Beach Boulevard from Railroad crossing to Carroll avenue are not allowed to run faster than 15 miles per hour. Cars must be parked only on right side of streets over the city; no cars parked on north side of Main street.

Also, cars running with one headlight will be subject to official attention; second, offense will mean arrest.

Mayor Blaize and Commissioners Bourgeois and Perkins realize the importance of enforcing the traffic regulations as of paramount importance especially at this season since the number of cars parked in the business section seem to augment from day to day. The idea is to minimize the possibilities of accident as much as possible.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Jacqueline Noto, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Noto, celebrated the occasion of her sixteenth birthday Monday evening at her home in Carroll avenue.

Quite a number of her friends gathered to help celebrate and the young guests enjoyed the evening immensely, playing various games after which delicious refreshments were served.

"Jackie" as she is better known, was presented with many lovely remembrances.

WHERE TO SPEND THE WEEK-END
With the advent of warmer weather the Mississippi Gulf Coast is calling the outsider. Fishing, boating, bathing await the visitor.
The motorists will find this section a veritable paradise.

The annual Gulf Coast tennis tournament will be held this year at Bay St. Louis, Miss., on the St. Stanislaus college courts, June 29, with play starting at 1 p. m.

Much interest has been shown by tennis enthusiasts along the coast in this coming event and, as usual, there will be entrants from Mobile, Biloxi, Gulfport, New Orleans and Bay St. Louis and surrounding territory to compete. Louis Lange, will defend his title. The men's doubles were won last year by Louis Lange and Bernie Shields, who are expected to team together again this year. Cups will be awarded in all events, which include men's singles and doubles, and probably mixed doubles.

Entries for men's singles and doubles will close Tuesday, June 25, at noon and should be sent to "B. S. Shields, care United Fruit Company, New Orleans." Fee must accompany entry. The entry fee for the men's singles is 75 cents and for doubles $1 per team.

The courts at St. Stanislaus college are probably the best along the coast and will be in tip-top condition when play starts. The tournament will be run off only on week-ends, allowing players from out of town to compete. A large entry has already been received and indications are that the 1934 record will be far surpassed.

STATE-WIDE APATHY

GENERAL complaint comes from over the state to the effect that the present campaign is one of marked apathy and that little or no interest is evinced. Candidates fail to draw the crowds as in other days and, generally speaking, few really care who are elected.

There seems to be no well defined issues. Even factional politics hardly enters into the contest. About all that is discussed are trumped-up issues of free this and free that. Something to at least interest the mis-led proletariat.

Our people over the State are seemingly too concerned about their own individual welfare as affected by present acute conditions rather than the chances of somebody else getting a job, failing, as it were, for the time being, to see that it is up to the voters to see that only sane and sound men are put into office.

Someone says we have had too much politics. We have gone haywire, tearing our shirts for the other fellow to get an office, while we, the voters, get nothing in return after the shouting of the election has died out to the very last echo. True, but we have not had enough of the right kind of politics. Too many have been carried on in the maelstrom of political fanatics seeking office, men, who elected, prove reactionary and of the dangerous type. Men who play for votes on prejudices and impulses; who would seek to destroy rather than construct.

Our people are getting back to sober judgment. Back to work and working out their own individual problems rather than those created from imaginary and visionary minds seeking political preferment.

Mississippi needs to get back to work. We need an industrial revival. Development of our agricultural possibilities to be fostered and stabilized. Mississippi is a great State. Rich in more ways than one. The dawn of a new day is apparent. Less politics and more work; less haranguing and more "peace and plenty." One candidate for governor in particular has caught the trend of the proper spirit. More industries, more building, more work for our men and women. Industry is a foundation stone for a better and more enduring economic structure than cheap politics.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE WITH THEM?

NOW that the Weyerhaeuser kidnapers have been apprehended, the next question is: What is to be done with them? There is an ancient New Jersey case in the law books, wherein a man was convicted of stealing six small coins from a cupboard, and the report winds up with the statement: The prisoner was hanged. That seems a bit harsh, yet it is probable that filching coins from cupboards was not a popular indoor sport in that part of Jersey for some time thereafter. Kidnaping is likely to continue until even the attempt to commit that crime is punished by prompt, rough-handed treatment of the old time vigilance committee variety, judicially administered.

CONGRATULATIONS DUE

WE think that the people of the nation should congratulate the Department of Justice officials and local officers who took part in the hunt for the kidnapers of the Weyerhaeuser boy. As soon as the youngster was safely at home the hounds of the law took up the trail and they were so hot on the criminals that the booty was abandoned and new evidence given that kidnaping will not pay any crooks in this country.

BEATING THE DEPRESSION

THE depression, it seems, ended last year for the chief executives of many an industrial corporation.

Reports to the Security Commission, as checked by the Associated Press, reveal that $31,750 was the average pay check of 771 executives, with 172 receiving $50,000 or more. The range was from a few hundred dollars to $365,000, the stipend of Thomas J. Watson, president International Business Machines Corporation.

The "Grass Root" Republicans, assembled at Springfield, Ill., have adopted what they denominate their creed. A creed is a statement of what is believed, and is not a bad thing, but it is what is done that counts. In deciding whether or not the time to expel the Democrats has arrived, the people will give little attention to Republican creeds. It will take more than a creed to blot out the remembrance of conditions that prevailed at the time of the last presidential election.

Biloxi entertained a conference of Governors of many states last week with marked success—as the Peninsular city always accomplishes things. The party visited Bay St. Louis Saturday afternoon in autos taking a "peep" of our city, as it were. They were switched around a block or two and returned from whence they came. The conference deliberated several days, between much entertainment, adopting resolutions, praising the New Deal and went back home, boosters for this Coast section of their great country.

FOR AIR CONDITIONED COAST TRAINS

THE Echo is of the opinion, and not alone in the thought, feel sure, if the usually progressive Louisville & Nashville R. R. would run an air-conditioned Coast train, serving the public and especially commuters who travel to and fro daily, its business would increase manifold. Commuters and others as well would welcome this innovation as regards local trains. L. & N. at present justly boasts of its air conditioned through trains and features this improvement in advertisements and bid for increased patronage.

We feel certain that clean, habitable and cooled trains would prove and serve as a double impetus—increasing travel and meaning for more commuters and other visitors to the Gulf Coast.

A business man and others spending the hot day in the big city would welcome entering a coach air conditioned. As it is now reaching the train depot head of Canal street one sweaters further under the depot "shed" and feels the train discomfort thru the trip. Coaches are screened, warm and the trip generally dusty and more tiresome for the reason of these conditions.

One does not receive our cooling gulf breezes aboard stuffy and wire-screened coaches. And gulf breezes do not fan that back territory traversed by trains.

If the L. & N. specially conditions all of its trains it seems easy enough trains to the gulf coast and thru the long stretch of travel to reach hither that it would be comparatively possible and easy to operate all coaches wherein occupants may enjoy a temperature at 70, health-giving, pure air, to say nothing of general comfort and sanitation.

It appears business men and others at the New Orleans end of the Coast trail might take this matter up with their railroad. It is just as logical for the company to cool its coaches in summer as it is to heat them for winter.

And if all other trains are so conditioned, why not those that travel the Coast? After all, it is the traveler to and from the Coast who is seeking comfort in summer.

We hope in due time this matter will be taken up and that relief sought will be granted.

Bus or no other kind of transportation could compete with air-conditioned coaches to and from this section.

A CHECK UP ON ACCIDENTS

DEATHS on American highways are increasing and the people of Bay St. Louis are keenly alive to the danger. There is hardly a week that some serious accident does not occur, and, unfortunately, every few months somebody is killed.

Any number of other accidents happen, but are not heard of because of the fortunate escape of the participants and because of the fact that some of them happen in isolated rural communities. It is important that an accurate record of automobile mishaps be kept, both with an eye on future driving by those involved and to discover weak points in the traffic rules.

A few states, and some cities, are now keeping card records on all automobile accidents. These are classified and have resulted in the elimination of dangerous points in the streets. Besides, an automobile driver who has been in one accident, will be more careful if he is aware that his record is on file.

Inasmuch as figures tend to show an increase of accidents on rural roads it appears likely that the states should maintain a record of all accidents, with the idea of improving blind spots in the highways and to discover consistently careless drivers, and then to eliminate them by refusing to license them as drivers.

A PROBLEM FOR MEDICAL MEN

SCIENTIFIC physicians continue to make startling announcements as to the effect of their discoveries upon disease and it seems within the realm of possibility that before this century is over that man will have moved toward eventual triumph over germs, bacilli and other ilk that prey upon human beings.

At the same time, not much progress is being made in bringing the best medical skill and hospital treatment within the range of the purse of the average citizen. Here is, it seems to us, a challenge to doctors, nurses, surgeons, and all those who labor in the field of medical science. Unless they want others to attack the problem it behooves them to attempt its solution upon a basis that is satisfactory to them and fair to the public at large.

SNAKES AND SPEED

JUST in case you happen to be chased by a snake we hasten to advise that a speed of less than four miles an hour, which is about fair walking time, will get you away from the reptile.

At least, that is the dictum of Dr. Walter Mosauer, of California, who tested the snakes of that commonwealth to discover that fastest record gliding was only 3.6 miles an hour, made by a red racer after prodding.

Of course, we hesitate to publish such a statement, having to take the word of the professor. We know that there are people living in Hancock who will immediately report the speed of various reptiles that participated in certain exploits. Anyway, let's hear about them; they make interesting reading.

A WORD ABOUT BOOKS

THE Sea Coast Echo would like to see more books read in Hancock county. Just how it can be accomplished escapes us. One good suggestion is the formation of a neighborhood book club, each member of which obligates to buy a book a month, and all members having the privilege of reading the books of other members. Individual books have been known to change the entire lives of people. A good biography, a fascinating novel, or a story of travel alike stimulate the mind and afford pleasure to those who read. Parents, in particular, should see that children get an opportunity to read good books.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

THAT MAN BILBO

(Jackson News)
SENATOR Theodore G. Bilbo, is headed for Washington to resume his duties in the Senate. He didn't arrive in time to vote on the utilities bill, but was paired in behalf of its passage.

Teddy the Terrible hopes to get back home in time to take active part in the state campaign prior to the first primary.

That he intends to take the stump for Hugh White, if official duties permit, is a foregone conclusion.

Already he is being bitterly denounced by other candidates for Governor because he appeared on the platform with Hugh White at five places in the state during the past ten days.

Friends of Bilbo say he doesn't mind that a bit; that when he gets back to the state he is going to camp right on the trail of the peevish persons who are criticizing him, and will answer them either in point debate or from the same platform.

Theodore is a tough customer on the stump. Also, he is having a careful record kept of what gubernatorial candidates are saying about him, and when he turns his verbal artillery in their direction there will be some rapid rushing for the bushes. The campaign for Governor thus far has been as dull as dishwater. Mebbe during the latter part of July Bilbo will be warming up considerably.

GOVERNORS—AS FAR AS THEY GO

(Gulfport Guide)
WE have already commented upon the people's indifference to Mississippi's gubernatorial campaign.

Perhaps one reason why no one has been able to put on the political heat so far can be traced to an administration that has been without personal slander or political scandal. Despite partisan bickerings Mississippians have been content with their government.

While The Guide has ridden Governor Conner at times pretty hard, as is the inherent right of any patriotic editor, we are proud of his record.

Mississippians have been able to travel afar, hear words of praise for their leader, and hold their heads high; he has reflected credit upon the state. As governors go he rates well.

TALK IS CHEAP

IN times of depression there are always wise prophets who set themselves up as advisors to the multitudes, taking advantage of conditions to criticize the other fellow, stirring up discontent through the exploration of theories untried and unproven, passing as a public benefactor, tooting their own horn, hoping to gain an audience for personal advantage, and ultimately trusting that some stray coin may come their way impugning the motive of everyone but placing the halo of righteousness on their own head and the scepter of wisdom in their hand.

Our country is developing a lot of these hot air artists, not alone under the large tent of our National Administration but attaching themselves to the side show of industries and business as well.

All businesses and professions are confronted with this type of people who are calling for something new and different, chasing rainbows, looking for the hidden pot of gold. New ideas, new plans, to get rich quick, using poison darts to catch those who listen and are foolish enough to strike at their delusion and snare.

So often men have failed to make good in their own business or profession. Their theories have not been borne out by personal experience.

in any conference, be it one of governors or gentlemen.

It is this editor's privilege to know a score or so of governors, some of whom are eating fish and making front pages on the Mississippi Coast this week. These conferences are primarily for publicity purposes and politics.

Governors as a rule are no bigger than other men of parts and standing, however much they may be puffed up at times with the emoluments of high office. And about the most shrunken personality of which we know anything about is an ex-governor who couldn't make the Senate, and the woods are full of them.

So governors as a rule are just folks, regular fellows, if they are good governors. We are glad to ring in on the tall-end of the Governors' Conference here at Gulfport Saturday.

By the time our Mayor feeds them his "five loaves and two fishes" they will all envy Joe his job—it's more permanent.

B. B. SHOT

(Port Gibson Reveille)

IT'S a very different matter for the various state candidates to arouse enthusiasm over their respective candidacies, despite the fact that they are shelling the woods with their heavy artillery. Unfortunately this artillery is loaded with small and ineffective ammunition.

FALSIFIED ADVERTISING

(Ruleville (Miss.) Record)

ANYONE with a thimbleful of sense knows that smoking cigarettes is not conducive to good health, yet the cigarette habit is growing. This is all on account of the falsified advertising propaganda. Facts of the case the advertisements are disgusting, and they are hurting legitimate advertising; getting so that people cannot believe that which people advertise.

GO TO WORK AND PAY YOUR DEBTS

(Batesville Panolian)

A BETTER grade of citizenship is what this country needs most, a man who is willing to work and make a living and pay his debts and quit squandering his time trying to get something for nothing.

C. W. FOUNTAIN

A TRIBUTE

Here's to your health, O, Southern girl,
And may you ever be,
As now you are, the priceless pearl
Of earth and sky and sea.

And may our Southland still abound
With blossoms of your race,
Till Time's own twilight deepens round

Her grandeur and her grace.

INTERESTING NEWS ITEMS OF THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLK IN HOLLYWOOD

JUST what effect the various types of moving pictures have upon the youth of this and other countries is still a much-discussed question, with some contending that they have little or no effect upon the minds and inclinations of children while others insist that what they see and hear helps in molding their thoughts and characters. All agree, however, that a form of censorship should be maintained, but disagree violently as to how far this censorship should go.

Along this line, it is certainly evident that producers of the more recent films are fully cognizant of the demand for better and cleaner pictures and are responsible to that demand.

If present indications mean anything, Shirley Temple's next for Fox, "Curly Top," based on the play "Daddy Long Legs," will add much to her universal popularity. In it, Shirley sings two songs, one an engaging ditty, "Animal Crackers," and the other permits her to be costumed as a child, a graduate, a bride and an elderly woman. John Boles adds much to the picture with his singing and Rochelle Hudson was discovered to have a pleasing voice also.

Whether his fans like it or not, Jackie Cooper is growing up. So much so that Metro found it necessary to engage Spanky McFarland to play Jackie as a child in "O'Shaughnessy's Boy," which is before the cameras.

Lily Pons, French metropolitan Opera star, will make her film debut for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in "Love Time," for which Jerome Kern is writing the music.

George O'Brien is trying to get away from his type as an out and out cowboy in his latest film, "Hard-rock Harrigan," in which he plays the part of a tunnel driller.

Universal plans to team Zasu Pitts and Hugh O'Connell and believes the two will be even more popular than the Pitts-Summerville team proved to be. Their first picture together will be "Unconscious," following the completion of this, they will probably do "G-Women."

Irving Berlin has cast his lot with RKO and will work with Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire on "Follow the Fleet."

Lewis Stone recently began his twenty-first year as a motion-picture player. He has signed a new three-year contract and at the end of this period intends to retire permanently from the screen. Stone is one of the very few who have been before the public this long and still remained one of the more popular actors.

CAPITOL ACTIVITIES

(By Walker Wood, Secretary of State)

JUNE 25 and June 26 have been set as the dates on which medical examinations will be held for all those who want to practice medicine in Mississippi. The examination will be divided into two sections, one on June 25 for first two years of student work, and on June 26 for those who have already stood the year test. Application blanks can be secured from Dr. R. N. Whitfield, assistant secretary State Board of Health, Jackson, Miss.

The Mississippi branch National league of district postmasters, will hold its annual convention at the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Jackson, June 21 and 22. All of the 750 district postmasters have been invited. George D. Riley, State Insurance Commissioner, will act as Toastmaster at the annual banquet.

The largest foreign corporation qualifying in Mississippi with Secretary of State Walker Wood the past week, is that of Wohl Shoe Company, of St. Louis, Mo., in incorporated under laws of the State of Missouri, authorized capital $200,000.00.

The driveways at the new capitol have been paved with Kentucky Road Asphalt, and present a very pleasing and attractive appearance, states Secretary Walker Wood. The driveways at the old capitol have likewise been put in first-class condition. The paving of the driveways at the two capitol buildings is a project that Secretary of State Wood has been working on for several years, and he is gratified to see the consummation of this much needed work.

Enrique Volio, of Costa Rica, T. Y. Koo, of Nanking, China, Dr. J. K. Sphangos, of Athens, Georgia, and Dr. Alberto P. Leon, of Mexico, expect to visit Jackson during June and July. They are all interested in health conditions, and will study Mississippi health and sanitation methods.

A single large tree, depending upon the variety, will give off into the air from two to four tons of water daily, or measured as a liquid, hundreds of gallons. The tree reaches down into the earth and with its roots pulls this moisture from the ground, and then gives it out into the air again, acting as a natural humidifier. Remember it takes but a few moments to cut down a large tree, but it takes years to grow one. Arbor day should be observed in every town in Mississippi.

TELL 'EM A GOOD ONE

The Boliver Commercial suggests that gubernatorial candidates who are dangling that ancient sucker bait, free school books, before the eyes of voters include also a provision for free costumes to be given to the school children who take part in plays, pageants and other extracurricular activities, often equal to the cost of books in the average home.

Sure! Why not?

Don't stop with the fancy stuff, either.

Provide all school children, rich and poor, of high or low degree, with free shoes, suits and dresses, underwear, socks and stockings, and other wardrobe accessories.

Provide them with three square meals each day, including the vacation period. Furnish plenty of pocket change for candy, marbles, lipstick, rouge, cigarettes, and the thousands and one other little gimcracks that so delight their dear little childish hearts.

Also, Mr. Gubernatorial Candidate, solemnly assure your hearers that "this won't cost the taxpayers a cent" that it can be done without increasing the tax burden.

If you must tell a lie, go ahead and tell a good one.—Jackson Daily News.

THE BIRDS

I would I were as birds as free,
To wander in the air;
All nature's loveliness to see,
Without a thought of care.

I would my Creator praise,
Throughout the day;
I would spread joy upon my ways,
With feet above the clay.

I would I could soar quite as high,
As birds within the blue;
Perhaps I could find Heaven more
nigh,
In dewy fields of rue.

A guide was showing a party of tourists through the Corcoran Art Gallery at Washington. Pausing before a beautiful statuette, the guide said: "This is Venus at the Bath—executed in terra cotta."

One of the tourists exclaimed in horror: "What a pity! How Barbarous those Asiatic countries are!"

grade crossings have been reduced 78 per cent; curves 81 per cent. Of the 7c gas tax paid in Mississippi, one cent is federal tax, 2½c goes back to the counties, and 3½c goes to the highway department. Out of this amount is paid the cost of maintaining the state's 6210 mile highway system.

WASHINGTON NOTES

ANYBODY'S GUESS

Congressional leaders hope to adjourn by July 1st—or they did before the Supreme Court upset the legislative apple cart. Now it is anybody's guess.

BIGGEST

The Library of Congress, with 5,000,000 printed books and pamphlets and 3,000,000 maps, etc., is the largest in the world. So what? Well, why doesn't someone figure out a plan to make it more useful to the people of the nation, particularly those who reside in small towns and on the farms where library service is practically non-existent?

FOLDING

It costs about $10,000 a year to fold speeches sent out by House members to their constituents.

DECORATIONS

Pennsylvania Avenue is decorated with 60,000 electric light globes and 20 miles of bunting and elaborate stands using 1,500,000 feet of lumber, are in front of the White House for the Shrine convention next week. Cost is borne by Masonic organizations and private contributions but the set up is elaborate and the parade will be exceptional.

RELIEF CONTINUES

Direct relief will be continued thru June, with $131,000,000 allotted on virtually the same basis as in the past.

PACIFIC AIR MAIL

Bids for an international air mail service between San Francisco and China are to be advertised for as soon as Harlee Branch, chief of the air mail system, returns from a trip to Hawaii, where he will inspect facilities. Three companies are expected to make bids for the mail.

LABOR REASSURED

Labor seems to think that the $19 to $24 wage scale, recently announced, will apply only to playgrounds, parks and public projects and that the prevailing wage is a fact as far as building and highway construction, involving contractors, are concerned.

FARLEY CONFIDENT

Jim Farley continues to assert that the Democrats will win another sweeping victory in 1936. He is expected to retire as Postmaster General to manage the President's campaign.

SWEDISH PACT

Sweden and the United States have signed a reciprocal agreement, providing for tariff concessions on 64 American products and 44 Swedish items.

PEEK TO LOSE

The Hull-Peek controversy over promoting foreign trade is about to end with the complete victory of the Secretary of State. In fact, it would not be surprising to see Mr. Peek eliminated from the picture as a result of his outspoken antagonism to the reciprocal tariff agreements.

O LITTLE CHILD

O little child make me a dream, From out your smiling eye; O little one, catch me a beam, From sunlight in the sky.

O little child give me a song, From out your heart's soft note; O little one, take me along, With you where fairies float.

O little child, teach me to hope, In life for better things; O little one, from Heaven's slope, Snatch me bright rainbow rings.

POSTOFFICE AT PASS CHRISTIAN RAISED TO SECOND CLASS RANK

Increased Business Raises Rating—Department Says Based at a Time Previous To Chain Letter Fury

Postoffice Department at Washington Monday elevated the classification of 830 postmasters, giving them an increased salary as the result of what is said was improved business conditions.

The postmasters are rated each year by classes according to the amount of business done by each office.

Eighty-five post offices were boosted from second to first class—the latter paying from $3,200 to $10,000 depending on the volume of business.

The order elevated 271 from third to second class and 474 from fourth to third. Second-class offices pay from $2,400 to $3,000 and third class $1,100 to $2,300.

Fourth class postmasters are paid a percentage of the value of the stamps they sell and cancel.

The department said the new ratings were made before the recent chain letter flurry and were based solely on improved economic conditions.

Changes in class of post offices resulting from the annual readjustment of postmasters' salaries effective July 1, 1935, included: Third class to second class: Okolona, Miss., Pass Christian and Pontotoc, Miss.

Seven Song Hits By Warren-Dubin In New Musical

Nearly all screen musicals have one song which is outstanding, but when more than one scores a hit in the same production, it's more than likely that Harry Warren and Al Dubin are the song writers.

In the first National picture, "Go Into Your Dance," which comes to the A. & G. Theatre on Sunday and Monday, with Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler heading the all-star cast, there are seven song hits.

The two big Bobby Connolly dance ensembles in the picture center around "Latin from Manhattan" and "About A Quarter to Nine," both of which are sung by Ruby and Al.

Then there's heart rending torch song, "The Little Things You Used to Do," sung by Helen Morgan in her plaintive way.

Al Jolson, acknowledged the greatest "mammy song" singer of all times, introduces a new style mammy song by the title of "Mammy, I'll Sing About You."

There's nothing old fashioned, really, about the song, "Have An Old Fashioned Cocktail With An Old Fashioned Girl," the way Keeler sings and dances to it.

"Casino de Paris" is the title song of the New York night club that Jolson owns in the film and he sings the song with a new found verve, just as he does "Go Into Your Dance," the theme song.

The screen play is by Earl Baldwin, based on a story by Bradford Ropes. Others in the cast include Glenda Farrell, Barton MacLane and Phil Regan.

O, LADDIE!

O! Laddie of the golden hair,
And starlit eyes of blue;
There was a boy, 'e'en more fair,
Sweetest the world 'er knew,
I sometimes wonder if you know,
This child was born for you;
Then pure and sweet like Jesus grow,
That He your heart might woo,
O, tender child let sin not mar,
Your soul's petals all white;
But let it bloom like some bright star,
Climbing high to God's light.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE REPORT ON ALLEGED BILL DISCREPANCIES

Members Claim All Lumber Found Was Not Purchased Within Specified Period

Because of an alleged discrepancy in figures concerning purchase of lumber for public use in Beat 3, two committees were constituted to check and report.

One was styled the Citizens' Committee, composed of Charles P. Jones, Ben F. Lee and Walter Breeland; the other, representing Supervisor Calvin Shaw composed of Elec Ladner, Eli Ladner and Oliver C. Cuevas.

The Citizens' Committee has prepared and finished its report which is published herewith. The report of the other members will no doubt be forthcoming, and The Echo wishing to present both sides in fairness to the public, and in justice to all, hopes to be able to publish the other in an early issue, or, an official reply to the report herewith.

The following report of investigation of lumber purchases made in Beat 3, Hancock County, from October 1, 1934, to March 1, 1935, is presented by the Citizens' Committee, which, in company with a committee representing Supervisor Calvin Shaw, toured all the roads in this beat and inspected every bridge and culvert to be found, as well as lumber found piled along the roads and on premises of men employed by Supervisor Shaw.

The committee representing Supervisor Shaw was: Alec Ladner, Eli Ladner and Oliver C. Cuevas. The Citizens' Committee comprised Charles P. Jones, Ben F. Lee, and Walter Breeland.

The figures in the first column represent the number of feet of lumber claimed by Mr. Shaw's committee to have been purchased and placed during the time limit specified. The figures in the second column represent the number of feet of lumber rejected by the Citizens' Committee, which exercised its judgment in rejecting lumber thought to be older than claimed by Mr. Shaw's men, or on information given by citizens in the immediate neighborhood of the lumber in question.

In the case of the Crane Creek bridge, in which the Citizens Committee rejected only 2000 feet of the 9852 feet claimed by Mr. Shaw's men, the Citizens committee subsequently was informed that practically all of the lumber in this bridge had been placed there since the March meeting.

The Citizens Committee invites all citizens interested to travel these roads, check on these results, make their own inspections, and be satisfied that their work had been done conscientiously.

Why The Telephone Company
Resists Further Rate Reductions

Rates for local telephone service, unlike commodities, were not increased during the so-called boom years. But the telephone company like most other concerns suffered serious losses in revenue during the depression and since rates did not go up there is not sufficient margin left with which to absorb any further reductions.

During 1933 in compliance with the President's Re-employment Agreement the company's expenses were increased more than $144,300. During 1934 there were rate adjustments which resulted in a reduction in revenues.

Operating under these increased expenses the company's earnings in Mississippi during the year 1934 amounted to less than two per cent on the investment in plant used to furnish the service.

It is the telephone company's responsibility to protect your service—to see that continued development, improvement and expansion is not hampered. The company recognizes its obligation to safeguard the employee body and to preserve their employment at reasonable wages. There is also a duty to the many thousands of people who have invested their savings in the telephone business.

It is to the best interest of the public, that Mississippi's telephone service be maintained at the highest possible standard, that the plant and equipment be the most modern known to the art, and that the service continue to be furnished at the lowest possible price consistent with financial safety. This the telephone company is now trying to do.

To not resist proposals for further rate reductions would undoubtedly be considered a serious failure of duty on the part of the company toward the public who depend upon us for efficient, universal service, the telephone men and women in Mississippi who depend upon the company for their livelihood, and the men and women in all walks of life who have invested their savings in the business.
